thanks guys

given that we lost our venue the day before the gig, that was by far the best night out we've had since we started. jackie was playing on a borrowed guitar that wasn't handling well but glitches and gremlins were so well disguised an hour or so earlier by our resident sound-god that nobody even noticed. thanks especially to all those people who trekked over last night from leicester, derby, stoke, northwich... we're mightily impressed with your efforts and equally appreciative of your selection (to be told that our night had been chosen over jackie's gig on sunday at manchester academy was a real compliment).

we've only got one more booking before xmas (more news to follow about a really exciting line-up for january, february and march) but for now it's all systems go for miles hunt at square one on november 19th. tickets available as usual through the shop or the website. see you soon and thanks again.
